TRADE OF ALEXANDRIA.

Commenting on the business methods followed by British tradesman in Alexandria Mr. Grieg, acting Consul, says in his consular report :— The British origin of goods is, here as elsewhere, an accepted guarantee of merit, and not a few critics in this country aver that British manufacturers might even enhance their success, advocating (1) the adoption of the metric system ; (2) the frequent visits of commercial travellers ; (3) general adaptability to local requirements ; (4) the quotation of prices in c.i.f. or any other terms required ; (5) the reduction of prices so far as possible ; (6) the acceptance of small initial orders ; (7) accurate adherence to specifications ; (8) great care and punctuality in the packing and delivery of goods ; and (9) subject to due precautions, longer credits It is impossible here to do more than comment on a few of these items of advice. As regards the fourth mentioned, whilst as a general rule all quotations should be c.i.f. Alexandria, since those terms only are accepted by native purchasers, sellers should be prepared to quote their prices in any other terms desired. One of the secrets of the not inconsiderable progress made by Germany in Egyptian and other commercial circles lies in the delivery of goods "free into customers' stores." Knowing without further effort the total cost of consignments, the buyer is thereby spared the labourious calculation of incidental expenses. It would be especially easy in the case of Egypt for manufacturers to quote prices "franco domicile," for the customs require an almost uniform duty of 8 per cent ad valorem. As regards the eighth item of advice, the methods of packing wares have from time to time been criticised. It is said that big crates are preferable to boxes, especially for glass, for the latter are thrown from place to place with scanty ceremony by the native carriers at the docks. Freights would be economised if bulky goods, such as furniture, were packed in numbered parts. As regards the ninth item of advice—the length of credit to be given must always remain a question for each manufacturer to decide according to circumstances. Longer credit is certainly given—especially by Continental manufacturers—here than in most countries, and traders are guided in the quotation of their prices by the anticipation of delayed payment.

It need scarcely be said that where it is proposed to give long credits, the appointment of a trustworthy agent is essential. The British Chamber of Commerce undertakes to provide its members with such, and the following lines quoted from a circular issued by that institution may be of interest :— "The Chamber lays itself out to procure reliable agents for manufacturers by putting the latter in touch with similar houses here. The importance of this work is obvious, since pratically everything depends upon the home firm having a trustworthy representative".

Manufacturers unable to procure entirely reliable agents should send out twice in the year commercial travellers with abundant supplies of patterns or samples and illustrated coloured catalogues. Even firms enjoying the services of agents should send such travellers at least once a year to visit clients, study their needs, and otherwise develop their trade. Besides French, a knowledge of Arabic, Italian or Greek would be advantageous to them. Continental firms engaged in the manufacture of some identical commodity sometimes share the services of a capable commercial traveller, and the system is said to give satisfactory results. In connection with the import trade, it is felt in commercial circles here that in a country where long credits are a necessary evil, the circumspection practised by the courts in protecting debtors against creditors should be even greater than elsewhere, and the law of judicial liquidation, once undoubtedly harsh towards certain classes of debtors, is said to incline at present towards leniency For until March 26, 1900 it was in the power of a creditor, however insignificant might be his share in the total interests involved, to reject the proposals of an insolvent debtor, even if these were favourably regarded by the creditors most vitally interested, and so to leave no option but bankruptcy to persons unfortunate but possibly honest. In 1900 a provision known as the Concordat Préventif, akin in spirit to Sect. 3 of our Bankruptcy Act of 1890, was introduced into the Civil Code of Egypt and it became possible for an insolvent debtor, proved to the satisfaction of the court to have been unfortunate and guiltless of dishonesty, to claim the sanction of law for his proposals if formally accepted by a majority of creditors representing three-quarters of the total interests involved, to compel the acquiescence of the dissenting few, and thus to escape the taint of bankruptcy.*

Such a composition was open to obvious abuses on the part of unscrupulous persons, and subsequently changes were introduced with a view to enabling judge and creditors to form their decisions in the light of the largest possible measure of reliable information as to the debtor's morality and affairs, and to ensuring the conscientious execution of compositions vouchsafed. But although the changes introduced did something to check some obvious abuses, others more subtle have survived to the detriment of the commercial community. Further changes have indeed from time to time been suggested by various mercantile associations tending to limit the privileges of the Concordat to debtors able to pay a minimum dividend of 50 or 60 per cent. of their total liabilities, to pay such dividend within a limited space of time, and to provide adequate guarantees of payment.

These suggestions have not, however, been adopted. The frequency of bankruptcies and the many abuses of the Concordat have led to the formation by the Importers' Association, on the invitation of importers of Manchester piece-goods, of a "Committee for the protection of creditors," ensuring to its members by combined and enlightened action greater advantages, both morally and substantially, than could result from private negotiations, too often of a semi-frudulent nature, with the debtor or third parties. The committee should be especially helpful to the many whose claims on estates are small, and who might, in isolated action, have to choose between sacrificing their interests and spending in the attempt to recover them a sum disproportionate to their value. The committee, formed as it was at the instance of importers of Manchester piece goods, merits the attention of British manufacturers and traders ; the cost of membership is trifling, and correspondence can be conducted by letter. During the six months of its existence the committee has done good work.

* It is understood, of course, that such Concordat Préventif can always be rescinded by the courts in case of fraud or subsequent misconduct by the debtor. Under these circumstances the acts of an unscrupulous debtor who is benefiting of the Concordat must be committed with the connivance, if not the actual aid or authority, of certain of his creditors without the knowledge of (1) the other creditors, or (2) the Ministère Public by either of whom, on production of the necessary evidence cancellation of the Concordat can be demanded and obtained.

Fire at Kom el Dik.

At five o'clock yesterday morning, the watchman of the central fire-brigade station noticed that a fire had broken out on the top floor of a house at Kom el Dik. The alarm given ,the fire-brigade at once got to work, but owing to the feeble water pressure they were unable to work with any effect until two steamers had arrived. The fire was confined to the room in which the outbreak occurred, the contents of which have been totally destroyed. The damages have not yet been estimated and the cause of the fire is unknown.

Wanted a clerk.

A Cairo Anglo-French contemporary inserts the folowing advertisement in its newscolumns:- "Clerk Wanted. Wanted at the office of this paper a clerk to correct proofs. Must know English well. Apply to the acting editor by letter on between 12 and 1 any morning." We fully sympathise with our contemporary and consider that they are quite justified in requiring a proof-reader with a knowledge of the language of the proofs, but we might suggest that from 12 to 1 in the afternoon would have been a more considerate time for application than from midnight to 1 a.m.

OSTRICH FEATHER SALES.

These sales took place in London last week, they comprised 3674 cases Cape and 88 cases Egyptian, of which about 3600 cases Cape and 83 cases Egyptian sold. The weight of feathers offered was 72,500 lb. against, 68,400 lb. in June last. The sales passed of with a good demand. The quantity catalogued was again large, but the proportion of good quality feathers was smaller than the previous auctions, and brought relatively good prices, Egyptian feathers sold well, the changes being the same as in Cape.

EGYPT AND INDIA.

COMPARISON AND CONTRAST.

In the last number of the "Empire Review" Sir Edward Candy draws an interesting contrast between Egypt and India. Lord Cromer, who may fitly be styled the Regenerator of Egypt, says the writer, has had thirty five years experience of oriental administration. In his recent report on Egypt he makes several direct references to India, and there is, I think, little doubt that in many other passages he is indirectly referring to the Indian Empire. It may not, therefore, be inopportune if advantage be taken of the occasion to further emphasise this very interesting comparison.

The first point of difference which strikes one is what may be termed the geographical contrast. Egypt is a single country, occupying a most important position between the East and West ; and a prominent characteristic of the country is the River Nile, from the inundations of which a vast area is irrigated. On the other hand, India is a whole continent of diverse countries. But one province in India is similar to Egypt, and that is Sind, watered as it is by the inundation canals of the River Indus, which, like the Nile, prevents a vast tract from being a barren waste. Apart from Sind, the points of comparison show great dissimilarity. Egypt is the gateway of trade between East and West : India has a very extensive export trade both to Europe and Asia. Moreover, the races, languages, and castes in India are innumerable. Among the subjects of the Khedive are found Turks, Copts, Syrians, Armenians, Soudanese, Berberaese, Arab, Negro, Christian, Mohammedan ; but for pratical purposes Arabic is the acknowledged vernacular. English and French are the official languages.

Politically the contrast is still more striking. The ruler of Egypt is the Khedive, nominally subject to the suzerainty of the Sultan of Turkey. But above and beyond is the British occupation, which exists with the consent of the other European Powers in order that peace may be maintained in the country and administrative reforms carried out. In India we also have British occupation; but that is because the various countries comprising the Indian continent form a distinctive part of the British Empire. There is, however, one point about India which has no counterpart in Egypt, namely; the existence of the "Native States," ranging from great principalities to petty estates. These States are all outside the bounds of British India, but none the less they are under the supreme authority of the British Government, and form part of the British Empire. We have, therefore, this important point of difference between the occupation of Egypt and the occupation of India by the British Government, that in the case of Egypt—the Governments of the French Republic, of Austria-Hungary, Germany and Italy, having declared that they will not obstruct the action of Great Britain in Egypt by asking that a limit of time be fixed for the occupation or in any other manner—the question of the duration of occupation is left to the discretion of the British Government. No doubt, as in Egypt, the British occupation of India will last as long as the British Government consider it necessary in the interests of the welfare and good government of India. But it is much more than this. In a sense it may be correct to speak of the native rajahs and chiefs as "our Indian Protectorate." But this is only one aspect of their relation to the British Crown ; they are more than "protected ;" they and the various provinces of British India, as above stated, are part and parcel of the British Empire.

THE BERBERINE NUISANCE.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "EGYPTIAN GAZETTE."

Sir.—I read in your issue of Tuesday, the 6th inst, a very just complaint from "Sufferer" about the Berberine nuisance. In the evening when you go home you find a group of those impudent and, abusive at times, fellows gathered before your door with the "Boab." What their business is there, can hardly be known. They are not servants in the house, and are seen there every day. I could state an instance of my porter. He has every night from six to nine "guests" around him and to most of whom he offers hospitality. Apart from the inconvenience and disturbance caused by their presence and rumours, etc ; to the tenants, they, as everybody will have noticed, have the dirty habit of expectoraring on the pavement. This, I may venture to say, brings many microbes and causes diseases affecting the little children who sometimes happen to play outside the door. Therefore, for the public's tranquility and health, I hope the police will take some strict measures in order to put a stop to this disagreeable and irritating state of things. A year or more ago the police used to arrest all the Berberines found to be without any occupation, and I do not see why this judicious practice is not carried into execution any more.

Yours very truly,
M. K.

Cairo, August 9.

"TO SEE WITH OTHERS' EYES".

MR MITCHELL INNES' PAMPHLET.

Commenting upon the pamphlet for private circulation written by Mr. Mitchell Innes, to which we referred some time ago, the "Spectator" says :—

It is an essay written by an Englishman, a high Egyptian official, who has been connected with Egypt during the greater part of Lord Cromer's administration. We wish that this essay—which we trust the author will soon give to a wider public—could be read by those foolish persons who imagine that the desire of every British official in Egypt when he sees a native is to fly at him with kicks and curses, or who fancy that because it was necessary to do justice, and stern justice, to the brutal ruffians who murdered British officers at Denshawi and plundered their bodies, Englishmen in Egypt generally believe that the proper way to govern natives is to terrorise them. The writer of the essay urges upon the young Englishmen who enter the public service in Egypt the necessity of showing kindness and sympathy to the Egyptians, and of not drawing an indictment against a whole people, or believing that because some Egyptians are cowardly and untruthful intriguers, therefore the native population as a whole is to be considered to possess those vices. Though we do not agree with certain things in the essay, and though we think that the writer does not state quite definitely enough the superiority of the British race, the fault there is, we admit, on the right side. The facts against the belief in equality between the Oriental and the Anglo-Saxon, judging not by individuals but by the whole, are so strong that we are not in the least afraid of their ever being forgotten in Egypt or in India. As we have said above, if the races were really equal in moral, why has not the Oriental developed institutions like, or superior to, our own ?—a question certainly not unfair considering the fact that he has had three times the amount of time in which to do it. This, however, is a minor matter. Whether we think them inferior or equal, we are entirely at one with the writer of the essay in holding that our superiority is to be shown by treating the natives with the utmost kindness, consideration, and justice. The more we believe that we have the giant's strength, the more clear is it that it is "tyrannous to use it like a giant." If the Englishman maintains true dignity, true self-respect, and a true sense of justice, he will never go wrong with the natives, and the question of equality can be left to settle itself. What our young administrators have to learn is, in effect, how to inspire the true sense of superiority. That will be not by violence when they are opposed, or by showing contempt for those who differ from them, but by doing the very opposite of what the native himself does when he is angry or excited. If for no other reason than that it is not a conspicuous native virtue, self-control should be the cardinal virtue practised by the Briton.

It must not be supposed that because the Englishman who has written the little work with which we are dealing gives such useful warning and advice to his younger colleagues, he therefore suggests that they are in any great or special need of it, or that the British, of all men of the white race, require such advice. The exact opposite is, of course, the truth, as no doubt he would be the first to acknowledge. We may not be perfect in our dealings with natives, but without question we treat them far better than the Frenchman, the German, or even the American does. Again, it must not be supposed that the writer of the pamphlet advocates an unwise assimilation of Europeans and natives. To quote his own words, "I do not advocate unnecessary intercourse with them. Only that that which is necessary and right in the execution of our duty should be characterised by kindness." He ends by dwelling upon the importance of acquiring the power to put oneself in another's place and "to see with others' eyes." Until we have attained to that, he tells us, we have not mounted far up the ladder which leads to success in governing. The qualities that he preaches, he is quite right in declaring, imply no want of strength or character. "Firmness is the twin brother of gentleness, determination and patience go hand in hand, and a clear recognition of the defects of a people is compatible with love of them." These, indeed, are Imperial qualities, and worthy of those whom "fate and the ocean and some fostering star" have made a democracy which rules not only itself but others.

THE NATIONALIST CHAMELEON.

"MODERATES" IN LONDON.

(FROM "AL WATAN.")

The Nationalist journalists who are now in London have supplied their countrymen with a new subject for jest and laughter by their grotesque insincerity and their strange conciliatory tone. Among Englishmen these Egyptian Nationalists gave expression to the most friendly feelings and appeared to ask for nothing distasteful to English palates. In Egypt they go beyond all limits in inciting the lower classes to rise against England and shew their hatred in a thousand ways.

Hafiz Awad is now in London under a false mask. Like the chameleon he has changed his colour to suit his surroundings ; but he can deceive only a few simple hearted Radicals whose deception will not interfere with the course of our Administration. In Egypt this Nationalist chameleon makes it his duty to publish every day revolutionary articles or poems calling upon his readers to contribute to the daily agitation in the name of Denshwai. In England he calls himself a friend and an ardent reformer ! Here he objects to all forms of genuine reform on the ground that such reforms touch the sacred rights of the Sultan or the Khedive. Here he preaches pan-Islamism and the suzerainty of the Sultan ; he even fights the battle of Turkey against his own country as he and his friends always do whenever a move is signalled from Constantinople. In England he dreads a return of the Turkish rule and thinks that the greatest moment for Egypt was when Mohamed Ali freed it from the Turkish yoke ! Here his only subject is a dishonest criticism of England's work in Egypt, India, and elsewhere, the translation of anything likely to make new enemies to England among his readers ; he never gives publicity to a word against Turkey and her Government. In England he is entirely different and his skin changes colour in order to deceive English eyes ! Here he is the most violent agitator in the cause of absolute independence, immediate evacuation, and up-to-date parliamentary institutions In England he accepts the British occupation and the British control (Many thanks from merrie England) asking for the simplest association in certain local affairs !

This is how the Nationalist chameleon tries to deceive England by a change of colour. But will the deception last ? Will those in authority believe in the new colour of the Nationalist and take him into serious consideration ? We have no doubt that the British authorities are better informed than these chameleons appear to think, and that nothing will deceive them as long as the Nationalist Press goes hand in hand with the high source of this anti English agitation, the source of the chameleon policy which our petty scribes believe to be the essence of wisdom and which they have followed with such poor results.

OBITUARY.

MR. DUDLEY ALDERSON.

We greatly regret to report the sudden death of Mr. Dudley Alderson, a son of Mr. G. B. Alderson, who is so well-known and so popular among all classes in Alexandria. Telegraphing this morning, our Zagazig correspondent says :—"Mr. Alderson, of the Agricultural Bank, was found dead in a carriage of the morning local train from Hehia to Zagazig on arrival of the train at the latter station. Life was extinct and the body was conveyed to the hospital by the police officials."

We beg to offer our sincere condolences to Mr. G. B. Alderson and the relations of the deceased.

MR. ANDRE PANGALO.

A telegram from Athens announces the death of M. André Pangalo, who was till lately councillor of the Court of Appeal of this city. The deceased came to Egypt in 1886 as judge of the Mixed Tribunals, and last year replaced M. Antoniadis as councillor. He resigned last July owing to ill-health, and returned to Greece a few weeks ago. The news of his death will be received by all with much regret.

THE CROMER MEMORIAL.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "EGYPTIAN GAZETTE."

Sir,—Referring to your issue of the 25th ulto. in which it is stated that "1,000 Circulars were issued by Mr. Moss to British residents in Alexandria, that of these 130 were returned through the Dead Letter Office, therefore, of the 1,000, 870 were received by the British Colony." What evidence is there that 870 circulars were received ? I for one did not receive a circular, (that may have been the fault of my office people). I do not know when the circulars were sent out, but I fancy that it must have been after the 1st of May last when people had begun to leave for the summer. If so, I would respectfully suggest that Mr. Moss might renew his laudable efforts by the issue of a second lot of circulars in November next, by which time I venture to think that he will get a good many more than 29 replies.

Regarding the letter signed "truly yours X" in your paper of 26th ulto (in which he writes of the "English Residents in Alexandria") I very much doubt if Lord Cromer was in any way responsible for the abolition of the (supreme) British (Consular) Court at Alexandria. Perhaps X can prove his statement : if not, I think that his letter is to say the least of it ungenerous.

I am, etc.

TRADE OF ALEXANDRIA.

EXPORTS AND IMPORTS.

The increasing disproportion between exports and imports is striking, says Mr. Grieg in his consular report. With the rapidly-increasing population of Alexandria, estimated, pending the approaching census, at 408,000 souls, building operations continue with unabated activity. During the past year 985 new houses were actually completed, as against 636 in 1905 and 132 in 1901, whilst 2,738 were taken in hand as against 1,912 in 1905 and 755 in 1901. In connection with this work it may be observed that there has been a steady increase in the price of stone for building, for the quarries near the town are becoming exhausted, and material has to be sought further afield, a circumstance which led to the formation of companies for the manufacture of sand-bricks. The price of labour which has risen during the last few years with the general increase in rents and the prices of all commodities, maintains its level with little fluctuation. The price of land in Alexandria, high as it is, is not considered exaggerated. The value of a square pic (about 16½ square yards) near the Bourse is estimated at 25*l.* to 30*l.*, and even in the veriest slums it would be difficult to find land for less than 2*l* per square pic.

An extension of the tramways, which already knit up the eastern suburbs of Alexandria, to Dekhela, a point some 12 miles westward, where it is proposed to build a casino and summer residences—is under consideration. It is further proposed to carry the lines along the quays and to the Nouzha Public Gardens, which have recently been renovated by the Municipality. Indeed the latter is doing much to improve the town and the suburbs, and the work of laying down a promenade along the sea-front to Mustapha, a suburb some 3 miles to the east of Alexandria, is shortly to be begun, and should be completed within two two or three years. A project, likely to be carried out in three or four years, is the construction of a new passenger station for the Egyptian State railways. The Alexandria Water Company has now carried to all the eastern suburbs of the town its supply of water. The total value of the imports to Alexandria during the year 1906 was 21,520,353*l.*E. as against 19,066,388*l.*E. in 1905, representing an increase of 2,454,015*l.*E., whereas the average yearly increase during the period 1901-06 was 1,421,916*l.*E.

There has been an appreciable increase in imports from the United Kingdom and the colonies, which together claim 37 per cent. of the total imports and 36 per cent. of the increase during 1906. The increase of imports from the United Kingdom in 1906 was more than double of the average yearly increase in the period 1901-05. Whilst there has been a decrease in imports from the British Mediterranean possessions, whose average yearly increase during the period 1901-05 was 21,338 L.E., the increase of activity in imports from the British Far Eastern possessions (including Canada) contrasts with their fall-off during the period 1901-05. Relatively to their respective shares in the import trade, Belgium, Germany and France (including Algeria) claim the largest proportions of the increase.

Thus, the increase realised by Belgium during the past year was 387,206 L.E., whereas the average yearly increase for the period 1901-05 was 81,260 L.E. Her share in the total imports to Alexandria was 5 per cent., as against 4 per cent. during the period 1901-05, and her share in the increase of the past year is 16 per cent. Imports from Germany have increased by 348,602 L.E., whereas their average yearly increase during the period 1901-05 was 104,173 L.E. Germany's share of the imports to Alexandria which fell to 5 per cent. in 1905, again reached 6 per cent. during 1906. The increase in imports from France (including Algeria) during the past year amounted to 402,423 L.E., whereas the average yearly increase for the period 1901-05 was 210,028 L.E. America and Greece have increased their shares of the imports from 2 to 3 per cent. and 1 to 2 per cent. respectively. The shares of Austria-Hungary, Italy and Russia have fallen from 8 to 7 per cent. 6 to 5 per cent. and 4 to 2 per cent, respectively.

By far the most conspicuous increase during the past year has been in the category of metals and machinery. Next come chemicals and pharmaceutical substances (including chemical manure), coal, and wood (including furniture), building materials, and groceries. The demand for leather and leather goods, paper and books, spirits, beer and wine has likewise increased. Textiles have not increased in the same marked proportions as during the previous five years.

PERSONAL AND SOCIAL.

Mr. P. W. Machel is staying at Filey, Yorkshire.

By the retirement of Brevet-Colonel Lord Edward Cecil, D.S.O., Under-Secretary of State for Finance in the Egyptian Government, the Brigade of Guards loses the services of an experienced and highly-qualified officer. He is the fourth son of the late Marquis of Salisbury, and entered the Grenadier Guards as a Second Lieutenant from the Militia in 1887, subsequently becoming Aide-de-Camp to Viscount Wolseley while commanding the forces in Ireland. On the formation of the Dongola expedition he joined Viscount Kitchener's staff, and was present at the engagement at Firket and the operations at Hafir, for which he was mentioned in despatches, received a medal with three clasps, the fourth class of the Medijidie, and the brevet rank of major. In 1897 he was selected to accompany the Mission to Abyssinia, and was decorated by King Menelik with the third class of the Star of Ethiopia. During the final campaign against the Mahdi, Lord Edward Cecil again officiated on the staff of Lord Kitchener, and took part in the battles of Atbara and Khartoum, being further recognised in despatches and awarded the Distinguished Service Order. In the recent South African War he went through the defence of Mafeking. On returning to Egypt from South Africa he was appointed Agent-General of the Sudan Government and Director of Intelligence at Cairo, and subsequently Under-Secretary of War.

Captain Stanley Flower has returned to Cairo from his annual holiday.

Mr. H.A. Davidson has resigned the management of the Cairo branch of the Bank of Egypt. The management will be carried on temporarily by Mr. L. Biddulph and Mr. M. J. Temple.

A NEW PAPYRUS.

Among the many portions of written papyri discovered by M. Jouguet at Ghoran in the Fayoum, and which were preserved because used for stiffening the cartonage of mummy cases, is one which forms the first of the new work "Papyrus Grecs publiées par le section Papyrologique de l'Université de Lille." This manuscript is more complete than usual with such pieces measuring 16 by 31 centimetres, and is written upon both sides. Although as literature it is of no interest, it is of much value for the cadestral mensuration at the time of the Ptolemies for it contains a plan displaying four canals and the irrigation dykes upon a farm in the Fayoum and the whole surface of a given area is marked out into 40 equal sized plots. Because of this, it gives us for the first time the correct dimensions of the old Greek surface measure, called Naubion, and also, indirectly, of another, the Aiolion. Some 30 lines of the text and the whole of the diagram of the works are perfectly preserved, and the statements in the document supply information as to the sums paid in winter and summer for the work necessary to keep in good order the arrangements for irrigating, and indicate a plan for such works as were then carried out for the purpose. The style of the writing is of the third century B.C. and as the papyrus bears the date of year 27 of some Lagid monarch we know it must have been written under Ptolemy Philadelphus in 258/9 B.C. The month being given as Phaophi, dates it definitely as November or December of 259 B.C.

The contents show that work prolonged into the spring or hot season was better paid for than in the winter, probably because of the heat. At the end of the papyrus the Inspector, whose memoranda it embodies and whose name appears to have been Apollonius, states that he left the site of the works on the 7th day of Athyr and went by water to a post called a Phylake, a new name for an officials' quarters in the Fayoum, though a frequent one in the Hermopolite nome. From the Phylake he proceeded to Touphis, a town known from the Ranier papyri, at Vienna, thence to the "Town of the Syrians" which is mentioned in the Petrie Papyri, and another papyrus in London, finally arriving at Ptolemais, but there were so many cities of that name in the Fayoum it is difficult to say which is intended. Near to the village of the Syrians was Ptolemais Néa, but as Apollonius says he was near to the Labyrinth it may be Ptolemais Hormon or Ptolemais Euegetis. Finally he reports his arrival at "the city" but does not tell us its name. Later the dimensions of the Naubion which occurs again in an Oxyrhynchus papyrus No. 669 of Roman times appear to be somewhat larger than in the papyrus at Lille, dating from four centuries earlier ; but perhaps the later document, now that we have the clear description of these agrarian measures from Ghoran, may be more correctly interpreted, or the size may have varied.

It would, as may be imagined, be possible to say more about the contents of this papyrus, but the "Egyptian Gazette" can only summarize and notify the discovery of such relics. The vocabulary alone is worthy of long study by experts. It is certainly one of the strangest events of the 20th century that the history of Greek and Egyptian civilisation should be practically rewritten by the recovery of writings deposited in mummy cases, because thrown away as waste so many centuries ago.

EUROPEAN QUARTER BOMBARDED.

LOOTING AT MOGADOR.

PARIS, August 9.

Official telegrams give most graphic descriptions of the defence of the Consulate quarter of Casablanca. The attacks of the tribesmen culminated in a great onslaught on the morning of the 7th instant. Four cruisers arrived just in time to relieve the defenders who were practically exhausted. The French had seven killed, and two officers and ten men wounded. The Spaniards also had casualties. The French reinforcements camped outside the town and vigorously repulsed an attack by 6000 tribesmen. The town has been practically wiped out. The refugees have returned to land and order has been restored. (Reuter)

TANGIER, August 9.

The latest advices seem to show that the French were seriously mistaken in landing parties before a large force was available. The tribesmen seized the opportunity to loot whole quarters of the town and maintained a furious fusillade on the French Consulate, where there were many refugees. It was largely the bombardment by the Galilée that saved the Consulate from capture.

According to the Turkish version, the Persian Commander Medjiss Sultana with regulars, 1000 irregulars, and 400 Armenian revolutionaries were preparing to attack the disputed frontier town at Mergovar, and for that reason the Turks summoned reinforcements from Van. The Persian attack was subsequently repulsed with heavy loss Medjiss Sultana states that he went to neighbourhood of Mergovar to pursue the murderers of an American missionary and to chastise the Kurdish brigands. The Turkish commander thereupon advanced into Persian territory and ordered Medjiss Sultana to evacuate the district within three hours. At the expiry of the term he bombarded the camp, compelling the Persians to retreat. (R.)

ARMY AND NAVY.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

London, July 25.

The 1st Battalion Lancashire Fusiliers, recently stationed at Cairo on temporary duty, has been placed under orders to leave Malta for India in November. The battalion expected to get a home station instead of going to India. Another surprise is the ordering of the 3rd Battalion Worcestershire Regiment from Aldershot to South Africa.

Lieutenant the Honourable M. St. A. St. John, King's Own Scottish Borderers, who is borne on the strength of the 1st Battalion, has been placed on temporary half pay owing to bad health.

Major A. Sutherland, Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, on promotion to substantive field rank in his own regiment, remains with the Khedive's Army. He is employed in command of the troop in the Berber District.

London, July 31st.

Major C.H. Leveson, 18th Hussars, the next senior officer of the cavalry of the Khedive's army since the retirement of Lieutenant Colonel W.H. Persse, of the Bays, learned his soldiering in the rough school of practical service during four campaigns, in the course of which he found himself in more than one tight corner. Beginning his career in the 18th Hussars in 1880, he saw his first active service in the Chitral Relief Expedition, 1895 (medal with clasp); and next in the North West Frontier campaign which followed in 1897-98 (two clasps). He joined the West African Regiment in 1899, and thus was not in the early phases of the South African War, and the defence of Ladysmith, in which the 18th was prominently engaged, but had a turn through the Ashanti Expedition, 1900 (medal with clasp). He joined the 18th in the field in 1901, and went through the operations in the Transvaal, Orange River Colony, and on the Zululand frontier of Natal, in the course of which he was severely wounded. For his services he was mentioned in despatches, and awarded the Queen's medal with two clasps. Taking service with the Khedive's troops in February, 1903, he has proved his admirable capacity not only as a regiment officer but as an administrative officer.

Three subalterns of the King's Own Scottish Borderers, Lieutenant H.W. Todhunter, Assistant Instructor at the School of Musketry, Hythe; Lieutenant C.F. Kennedy, adjutant of the 1st Battalion, Cairo, and Lieutenant B.J.B. Coulson, of the latter battalion, have just been promoted captains, and the first named two have been seconded in their respective appointments. Captain Todhunter got his first commission in 1898, and served with the 1st Battalion in the operations in Orange Free State, the fights at Paardeberg, Poplar Grove, Karroe Siding, Vet River and Zand River, operations in the Transvaal, the actions near Johannesburg, Pretoria, and at various scraps east and west of Pretoria (mentioned in despatches Queen's medal with three clasps, King's medal with two clasps). Captain Kennedy joined the Borderers in 1899, and had a turn of service with the Mounted Infantry in the above named actions, in addition to the battle of Diamond Hill, and the lesser affairs in Orange River Colony, Cape Colony and the Transvaal (mentioned in despatches, Queen's medal with four clasps and King's medal with two clasps). Captain Coulson was also with the Mounted Infantry, but had the hard luck of being knocked out of action at Karree Siding by a dangerous wound, after having come through the fighting at Paardeberg, and Zand River (mentioned in despatches, Queen's medal with two clasps). These are the first company promotions in the Borderers since December of last year.

Second Lieutenant C.B.R. Hoey, 1st Battalion Royal Dublin Fusiliers, Alexandria, has been promoted lieutenant; and also Second Lieutenant J. B Hartley, 2nd Battalion King's Own Scottish Borderers. Lieutenant Hoey got his first commission in 1902, in time to share in the latter three months fighting in the Transvaal, (Queen's medal with four clasps)

Major R C. Stevenson, Royal Garrison Artillery, commanding No. 22 Company, Leith, has been transferred to No. 2 Company, Cairo. Major Stevenson has served in the Royal Regiment since July, 1882, was promoted captain in 1891, and major in 1900. He has not seen any war service.

The Inniskilling Dragoons are to be kept at their present establishment of three service squadrons and a reserve squadron. The latter at home.

A year from now, the command of the Inniskilling will fall vacant in the usual course. The command should go to Major F. A. B. Fryer, the second in command, and the vacant majority in that case to Captain W. H. King, who is employed with the Egyptian Army.

A HANDBOOK OF EGYPTIAN RELIGION.

BY ADOLF ERMAN. (Constable & Co.)

Very odd are Prof. Erman's ideas on magic, which he here states to be "a barbarous offshoot (Auswuchs) of religion," thereby ignoring utterly the rival theories that it is the earliest form of all religion, or that magic and religion are inseparable twins which came into being at the same time and have always existed together. He thinks that in the Fifth Dynasty the magical ideas, according to which the representations of slaves at work, of food, and of pastimes in the paintings of the tombs were supposed to operate for the benefit of the dead, gave way to artistic and decorative notions, and that these pictures were then made to please the relations who gathered in the tombs from time to time to celebrate the funeral feasts. But this surely must be erroneous. Magical ideas, so far from dying out, claimed an ever-increasing part in the religious ideas of the Egyptians, and under that Middle Kingdom which Prof. Erman considers the classic period, the representations in question were no longer merely painted, but carved in the round, so as to present a closer similitude to the original. The underlying idea here seems to have been exactly the same as that which led malevolent magicians to make wax images of those they wished to injure, a practice exemplified in the celebrated Palace Conspiracy of the Nineteenth Dynasty.

But perhaps the greatest inversion of facts to fit the author's theories occurs in Prof. Erman's constant resort to punning or assonance as a link betwen unrelated words. Thus he tells us that the legend that men were created from the tears of the gods is derived from the fact that remyet means "tears" and romet "mankind"; that the moon was created by Ra in a speech where he told the moon-god that he would make him "embrace the heavens with his beauty" because yooh yonh means "embrace" and yooh "create"; and that the ibis became the bird of Thoth because Ra told him he would send him to those greater than himself, hob meaning "send" and hibi "ibis" This is the very midsummer madness of etymology. Later ages do indeed sometimes try to explain forgotten derivations by puns, as in the celebrated case of Stanton (Stand to 'un!) Harcourt: but then the pun is based on the similarity of sound, and not on that of appearance. The thing that chiefly strikes our ears in the spoken word is the vowel, and hib (pronounced heeb) is not in the least like hob until we begin to write it, Berlin fashion, in consonants only. Thus there can never have been any likeness to Egyptian ears between yonh and yooh, remyet and romet; and the equivalence of these pairs of words can only be substantiated by the supposition that the Egyptians had anticipated Prof. Ermans theory that the vowels in their language could be left to the imagination. Merely to state such a proposition is to show its absurdity.

It is pleasant to turn from these vagaries of the learned to the points in which we can praise. Prof. Erman's work. For more than thirty years, he teels us he has studied the monuments of Egyptian religion, and the conclusions at which so able a scholar has arrived as the result of this study must always be worth attention. In his attribution of the idea of the king's divinity and of the Osiris legend to the earliest ages of Egypt, he is almost certainly correct; as he is in his assertion that alchemy and horoscope-casting were unknown to the Egyptians before the influx of Greek learning. Whether he is right in supposing that the sem priest at the funeral actually played the part of the dead, and that the kingship of Osiris over the other world marked a change of religious ideas, is more open to question; but in both cases, as in many others that that could be named, Prof. Erman's theories are strongly-founded, and entitled to every respect. The book is an excellent guide to the rich Egyptian Museum of Berlin, and, as we said in our first notice, specially valuable to English readers as giving them representations of monuments with which they have small opportunities of making themselves acquainted. Why the English translator should have omitted any of these, as she has done, is hard to say; but no fault can be found with the substitution in the present volume of examples from Mr. Hilton Price's collection for the similar, but less perfect monuments at Berlin. Mr. Griffith, in a characteristic Preface, asserts that "Prof Erman is the first to present the Egyptian religion in historical perspective," thereby ignoring the fact that this is the distinguishing feature in the works of M. Maspero, Prof. Wiedemann, and Dr. Budge; nor do we find that the special preface which his panegyrist claims that Dr. Erman has written for the English edition differs one jot from that of the German original. For the rest, the translation adequately represents the sense of the author, and the illustrations are well reproduced. We have noticed only one misprint.

REVUE COMMERCIALE

Coton

Sans qu'il y ait eu quoi que ce soit d'extraordinaire, la semaine qui vient de finir a été, dans son ensemble, et du moins dans sa dernière partie, un peu meilleure que la précédente sous le rapport de l'activité. Certes, les transactions sont loin d'avoir été nombreuses, mais après le marasme auquel nous avions fini, pour ainsi dire, par nous habituer, les quelques opérations qui se sont faites ces jours-ci ont suffi pour donner un semblant d'activité au marché. Quant à la marche des prix et à l'ordre dans lequel les changements se sont succédés, le tout a procédé presque de la même façon que la huitaine d'avant, avec cette seule différence que la finale a peut-être été plus satisfaisante. Mais, n'anticipons pas et procédons par ordre.

Grâce au rapport du Bureau d'Agriculture de Washington et à la hausse provoquée par son 75 %, comme condition de la plante, la séance de Samedi a été très ferme et les prix se sont maintenus à leur niveau de la veille, mais en ce qui concerne l'animation, c'est à peine si l'on peut dire que trois à quatre affaires ont eu lieu comme affirmation de l'existence de notre marché aux contrats.

Le fait est que pendant presque tout le temps tout le monde était loin de la corbeille, au point que l'on aurait dit que nous étions en plein jour férié ; heureusement que cette séance n'a duré que de 10 heures à midi :—

Quoique mauvaise après tout, la matinée en question ne laissait nullement entrevoir la faiblesse qui s'est dessinée Mardi à la reprise des affaires, après le chômage de Lundi à l'occasion du Bank Holiday d'Août en Angleterre, et qui nous a valu un recul de 3/8 de tallari sur la cote du Novembre. Ce revirement inattendu, avec une Amérique des plus fermes et des exportations faisant présager dès le début une semaine de beaucoup supérieure à ce point de vue à tous les pronostics, a été causé simplement par l'abondance de l'offre tombant à un moment où les acheteurs n'étaient guère disposés à opérer, et par les manœuvres baissières de quelques intéressés qui ont cru devoir profiter de la circonstance pour peser sur la situation dans le sens qui leur convenait.

Par sa façon de se comporter, le marché venait de nous prouver qu'il n'y avait pas possibilité de compter sur la spéculation au cas où l'on serait tenté de faire un mouvement quelconque ; mais malgré cette impression on considérait que les choses avaient été trop loin et trop vite et la preuve en est qu'après les premières escarmouches du lendemain qui firent fléchir le Novembre à 20 tallaris vendeurs, la tendance changea de nouveau pour le mieux sur une demande surgie tout-à-coup et que d'aucuns ont voulu attribuer au commerce d'exportation, tandis qu'en réalité il s'agissait peut-être de rachats pour compte du découvert.

Quoi qu'il en soit, la fermeté n'a fait que s'accentuer depuis lors, pour nous faire finir aujourd'hui sur la cote de 20 3/8 pour le Novembre, ce qui réduit à 1/16 la perte subie depuis Vendredi dernier. Ce n'est sûrement pas là le résultat que légitimement on aurait pu espérer, mais comme reprise après la forte chute de Mardi, ce n'est pas à dédaigner du tout !

Toutefois, cette tenue plus ou moins satisfaisante, suivant le point de vue auquel on se place pour l'envisager, est restée confinée à la nouvelle récolte seule, car pour ce qui est de l'Août, les choses ont eu une allure qui a énormément laissé à désirer : l'échéance en question a fini à 19 7/8, soit en baisse de 3/8 de tallari pour la semaine, mais ce qui est incontestable c'est qu'hier des affaires ont été faites à 19 5/8 et que la cote de 19 7/8 est purement nominale.

Il y a peut-être quelque chose de surprenant à voir que le commerce, à ces conditions, montre quand même de la réserve, surtout qu'il ne se passe presque pas de journée sans qu'une vente sur Août ou Septembre se fasse pour l'Europe. A cela il y a deux explications : nos Exportateurs avant de faire de nouveaux achats cherchent à se débarrasser de ce qu'ils ont, tandis que d'autre part le flottant en vieille récolte est si réduit, 10 à 12,000 cantars en tout, dit on, qu'il ne peut donner lieu à un courant d'affaires régulier. Du reste, d'ici quelques jours on n'entendra plus parler de l'Août.

La nouvelle récolte, par contre, continue à ne pas jouir des sympathies de la consommation ; on espère néanmoins un réveil des affaires pour la prochaine campagne, nos exportations ayant en général renoncé à l'attitude expectative qu'ils avaient cru devoir adopter à cause de la situation locale et étant presque tous revenus à leur système des offres fermes. Cela facilitera certainement les choses, et si, comme on le prétend, il sera difficile de tenter l'Angleterre et l'Amérique, il n'en est pas moins vrai qu'une partie du Continent se montre toujours disposée à acheter de nos cotons.

Espérons que le succès couronnera les efforts du commerce, ne fût ce que pour lui permettre de profiter des conditions auxquelles il peut acheter dans l'intérieur et qui lui laisseraient un énorme bénéfice. Les dernières affaires à notre conaissance conclues avec les cultivateurs ont été faites à P. T. 15 au-dessus des contrats, prix à fixer au plus tard en Janvier, avec P. T. 50 d'avance par Cantar. C'est tout bonnement la manne pour celui qui a de l'argent à employer dans ces sortes d'opérations.

Les avis au sujet de la récolte chez nous ne cessent d'être merveilleux. Souhaitons simplement que ce sera le cas jusqu'au bout.

De l'Amérique, au contraire, on se plaint et on a l'air de craindre sérieusement les effets de la sécheresse, qui est encore partielle, mais qui pourrait s'étendre. Il est vrai que les baissiers, par la bouche de Price, leur chef de file, parlent maintenant de 13 1/2 à 14 millions de balles, après qu'il avait osé il y a deux mois à peine lancer le chiffre maximum de 11 1/2 dans les meilleures conditions possibles jusqu'à la fin, mais cela n'empêche pas pour le moment les cours de progresser ! Price prétend aujourd'hui que les plus excessives de Mai et de Juin qu'il n'avait cessé jadis de taxer de destructives pour la récolte, ont constitué dans le sol une réserve d'humidité qui permet à la plante de résister aux effets de la sécheresse ! Nous savions bien qu'on serait venu à cela et nous l'avons dit dans nos revues de Mai !! Et dire que l'on paie de l'argent chez nous pour se faire câbler des nouvelles par New-York pour être renseigné sur la réalité. C'est tout simplement absurde que de se faire gruger de la sorte par un pays où l'on est arrivé à considérer la divulgation des secrets par les fonctionnaires comme de simples infractions aux règlements !

Notre marché du disponible a été à peu près nul, tellement les affaires ont été insignifiantes. Du reste, il n'en saurait être autrement avec la pénurie du choix à la fin de la campagne.

Quant aux prix, ils sont fermes et la cote officielle de ce matin a été maintenue au même niveau que la semaine passée sur toute la ligne. Le disponible n'a plus rien à faire avec le terme.

Les exportations, comme dit plus haut, ont dépassé toute attente avec leur total de 9141 Balles, contre 4400 Balles environ pour 1906.

Il est vrai que de nouveau on soutient que la diminution sera des plus sensibles pour la semaine prochaine. Tout est possible et la première journée avec ses 300 Balles d'embarquements n'annonce rien de brillant, mais qui saurait affirmer quoi que ce soit ?

Pour la période correspondante en 1906 nous avons eu 4,600 balles.

Comme position statistique, on relève du Bulletin de la Produce Association que le stock a fini par tomber à 29,000 Cantars au-dessous de celui de l'année dernière, tandis que certaines personnes soutiennent que cela n'est pas réellement le cas et que les rectifications de fin d'année en plus seront plus fortes que l'année passée. Il serait oiseux de discuter sur une chose qui sera officiellement constatée dans une quinzaine de jours ; mais même si cela est le cas, il n'en est pas moins vrai, au dire des exportateurs, que nos ressources visibles actuelles sont presque entièrement engagées pour la filature et qu'un stock avec quelques milliers de Cantars en plus ou en moins ne signifie absolument rien. Les 7.000.000 ont été absorbés et voilà tout.

Liverpool a été actif pour les égyptiens disponibles, mais comme prix, le spot a perdu 1/16 à la cote de 10 3/4 et les futurs Août 2/64 au cours de 10 42/64.

Les américains ont aussi eu des ventes assez copieuses pour la saison, tandis que comme cotations c'est la hausse qui s'est affirmée : Elle est de 18 points pour le spot coté à 7.40 de 16 et 20 points pour les futurs que nous trouvons respectivement à 6.93 l'Août-Septembre et 6.71 pour le Janvier-Février.

Graines de Coton

Il y a bien eu de 5 à 6,000 ardebs d'arrivages pendant la semaine, mais il y en avait si peu à la vente que les affaires sont restées absolument nulles pour ainsi dire. Aussi la cote de P.T. 80 pour le spot que l'on s'est plu à donner depuis trois ou quatre jours, n'est-elle en réalité que nominale ou imaginaire.

Pour ce qui est des contrats, nous en sommes toujours à la même chanson : Rares affaires, mais manque de vendeurs aussi et hausse comme conséquence. Le dernier cours de l'Août qui soit, dit en passant, se trouve en de bonnes mains, est de P.T. 84½.

Hull paie £ 8 5/- et très probablement avancerait si on lui tirait la corde, surtout s'il existe encore de petits besoins à couvrir comme cela semble être le cas.

Quant à la nouvelle récolte, il y a fermeté, mais pas de hausse et pas d'entrain, ni ici, ni dehors Nos cours sont de P.T. 72 pour les 3 mois, tandis que Hull cote le Novembre-Janvier entre £ 7 1/3 et £ 7 2/6.

CHRONIQUE FINANCIERE

Alexandrie, le 9 Août.

Samedi et lundi étant jours de fête à Londres, on s'est empressé de chômer ici où tout est prétexte au dolce far niente.

On fait d'ailleurs si peu de chose en ce temps de vacances que nous ne songeons nullement à incriminer notre comité de l'association des courtiers en valeurs pour avoir saisi cette occasion de se reposer. Le marché a ouvert mardi faible et en baisse et l'impression a été plutôt défavorable pendant la plus grande partie de la séance. Vers la fin, toutefois, une amélioration s'est produite, particulièrement sur les valeurs dirigeantes, et c'est en définitive avec une hausse sur l'ensemble de la cote qu'on a clôturé. La note dominante de la journée a été, cela se conçoit, l'indécision en l'absence de toutes nouvelles de Londres, qui chômait depuis samedi. Quant aux affaires, elles ont été clairsemées et c'est plutôt à un retour de la demande qu'on a dû la petite reprise de la clôture qu'à des transactions effectives Le lendemain, Londres étant arrivé soutenu, notre corbeille a ouvert ferme et animée. Toute la séance a d'ailleurs été remarquablement tenue, excepté vers la fin où une légère réaction s'est produite à la suite d'ordres de vente provenant du Caire. L'ensemble de la cote n'en a pas moins fini plus haut comme la veille, mais comme la veille aussi les échanges n'ont guère été nombreux. Il n'y avait pas d'offres et l'on comprend que dans de telles circonstances les haussiers avaient beau jeu pour pousser les cours à peu de frais. Hier, après une ouverture ferme, le marché a un peu réactionné pour reprendre en fin de séance et clôturer sensiblement au même niveau que mercredi. Comme d'ordinaire, les affaires ont été clairsemées. Devant l'impuissance des haussiers à déterminer une amélioration rapide et suivie, il faut bien reconnaître que les vendeurs existent, mais que, retenus par l'espérance de plus hauts cours en présence du mouvement actuel, ils poussent eux-mêmes à la roue tant qu'ils peuvent tout en se débarrassant d'une partie de leur stock au fur et à mesure que l'occasion s'en présente. Et comme il existe des acquéreurs occasionnels, cela explique comment notre corbeille avec une apparence haussière et animée ne traite que fort peu d'affaires. Nos agents et spéculateurs se sont, en effet, rendu compte de l'inutilité de casser les cours pour écouler quelques titres. Plus habiles que naguère, au lieu d'offrir tous à la fois leur marchandise, ils attendent tout simplement qu'on la leur demande. Il faut dire que la détente leur permet en ce moment de temporiser, ce qui n'était pas le cas lors de la récente débâcle. Aujourd'hui enfin la séance a été un digne couronnement de la semaine, en ce sens que la cote a continué sa marche ascensionnelle mais que les transactions n'ont augmenté ni en nombre ni en importance. Cette fermeté n'en est pas moins remarquable, si l'on veut bien noter que les cours des valeurs égyptiennes nous sont arrivés en baisse de Londres, que le taux privé d'escompte a encore haussé de 1/4 à 4% et que hier on a enregistré à New-York la plus forte baisse des valeurs qui ait été constatée depuis le krach du mois de mars dernier.

Sur une soixantaine de valeurs inscrites à la cote officielle de la Bourse d'Alexandrie, trente sont en hausse et dix seulement en baisse, les autres demeurant stationnaires. Parmi les fluctuations les plus sensibles, il faut signaler à la hausse, 15 fr. sur les Dividendes Tramways d'Alexandrie à 305, 8 fr. sur la Cassa di Sconto à 42, et 3/4 de livre sur les Nungovich Hotels à 13 3/4, et à la baisse 15 fr. sur les Privilégiées Bière d'Alexandrie à 160. La National Bank gagne 3/8 à 20 1 4, la Ramleh 1/4 à 4 3/4, les Privilégiées Tramways 4 fr. à 141 1/2, la Béhéra 1/4 de livre à 20 1/4, ainsi que la Deferred Delta à 9, la Delta Land 11/32 à 2 1/32, la Land Bank 5/16 à 7 5/16, les Estates 7/32 à 27/32, le Comptoir 1/4 à 3 l'ancienne et 2 15/16 la nouvelle, et l'Allotment 1/4 l'action à 2 3/8 et 25 P.T. la part de fondateurs à 75. La reprise des Tramways est attribuée à des ordres d'achat provenant de Belgique et celle de la Land Bank à des ordres de Paris. En ce qui concerne les autres, il s'agit en général d'une demande locale. En hausse encore l'Agricole de 8 1/16 à 8 1/8, les Jouissances Eaux du Caire de 182 à 183, les Markets de 27/6 à 27/9, la Salt and Soda de 17/6 à 18/6, les Lots Turcs de 162 à 165, l'Investment de 1/2 à 9/16, l'Urbaine de 3 11/16 à 3 3/4, l'Union Foncière de 4 9/16 à 4 5/8, le Crédit Franco-Egyptien de 4 1/16 à 4 3/16, la Banque d'Orient de 116 à 118, les Cotton Ginners de 1 1/4 à 1 5/16, la Levant de 9/16 à 19/32, l'United de 3/8 à 13/32 l'action et de 2 1 4 à 2 3/8 la part de fondateur, les Ritz de 11/16 à 23/32 et l'Helouan de 3/16 à 1/4. Les Dividendes Bière d'Alexandrie fléchissent, au contraire, de 90 à 87, les Bières du Caire de 90 à 87 les Privilégiées et de 37 à 35 les Dividendes, l'Obligation Crédit Foncier de 304 à 303 l'ancienne et de 262 à 260 la nouvelle, les Sucreries de 35 à 30, l'Ordinary Khedivial Mail de 22 à 21/9, la Building Lands de 2 7/16 à 2 1/4 et le Banco di Roma de 105 à 104.

Les cours des valeurs égyptiennes à Londres restent sans changement, excepté ceux de la National Bank qui progresse de 19 3/4 à 20 et de la New Daïra qui fléchit de 13 à 12 3/4. Les demandes en numéraire se faisant de jour en jour plus pressantes, le taux privé d'escompte vient d'être élevé en deux reprises de 3 3/4 à 4 0/0. D'autre part, le Consolidé Anglais tombe de 82 7/8 à 81 7/8, niveau le plus bas qui ait été atteint depuis plus d'un demi-siècle. La proportion de la réserve de la Banque d'Angleterre avec ses engagements reste stationnaire à 46 7/8 %. A Paris, la Rente Française gagne 5 centimes à 95.12 et le Crédit Foncier 3 fr. à 688, ainsi que la Land Bank à 187 ; le Crédit Franco-Egyptien s'avance de 105.50 à 106. Ce sont là des résultats peu brillants dans leur ensemble et qui ne suffisent pas à justifier la hausse dont bénéficient actuellement ici les valeurs égyptiennes. Il nous semble qu'après avoir longtemps suivi la direction des marchés européens, notre place choisit bien mal son moment pour prendre la tête du mouvement. Nous n'en souhaitons pas moins que son initiative soit couronnée de succès.

Tout l'avenir du marché dépendant de l'aisance future du numéraire, il ne faut pas oublier que les points noirs qui ont déterminé la récente débâcle n'ont pas encore disparu de l'horizon. Loin de là. L'Amérique donne de nouvelles inquiétudes : on vient d'enregistrer à New-York, comme nous le disons plus haut, la plus forte baisse constatée depuis le mois de mars dernier. Il est donc probable que Wall-Street va de nouveau attirer chez lui l'or anglais, dans des proportions inquiétantes pour l'avenir. L'Egypte qui est à la veille d'opérer un drainage pareil pour sa récolte cotonnière verra de ce fait le taux de ses emprunts augmenté d'autant. Qui nous assure dans ces circonstances que le marché des valeurs disposera des sommes dont il a besoin ou s'il en dispose que l'intérêt prélevé par les banques et les reports à payer ne constitueront pas une spéculation ruineuse et par suite inabordable ? Si tel doit être le cas, les capitalistes feront bien de ne s'engager qu'à bon escient pour éviter des méprises comme celle du printemps dernier. Il ne manque pas en Egypte des placements plus sûrs et à la fois plus rémunérateurs que ceux offerts par la spéculation, une fois qu'ils sont grevés d'intérêts ou de reports monstrueux, avec de gentils égorgements en perspective.

C'est à dessein que nous revenons là-dessus, car voici rétabli le fameux marché à terme qui par son organisation défectueuse nous a conduit à l'impasse où nous nous trouvons actuellement. L'attrait irrésistible qu'exerce sur l'élément spéculatif local tout ce qui touche aux jeux de bourse fait prévoir de façon à peu près certaine qu'il se laissera de nouveau entraîner à des excès si des mesures de précaution ne sont pas prises et un contrôle établi. Nous souhaitons, sans trop l'espérer, que les comités des bourses d'Alexandrie et du Caire feront leur devoir sur ce point et nous épargneront une nouvelle crise.

Nous ne pouvons pas terminer cette chronique sans dire un mot de la Bourse & Banking (Arditi) qui forme l'objet de toutes les conversations. A la suite de la décision prise, sur la proposition du comité, à l'assemblée extraordinaire de l'association des courtiers en valeurs d'Alexandrie, le comité a publié de nombreux avis pour presser l'exécution de la délibération votée. Ce qu'il y a de curieux, c'est qu'il exige du courtier, avant de lui payer les différences qui lui reviennent, la signature d'une formule où il est dit "Pour solde......etc." Ce qui signifie probablement que le courtier accepte de renoncer à toute réclamation ultérieure. Pour la livraison des titres qui a commencé hier, la société fait également signer aux malheureux souscripteurs une autre formule spécifiant que le signataire déclare se soumettre à toutes décisions éventuelles de l'association. Cette seconde formule doit être signée par le souscripteur et par un témoin. Ajoutons que beaucoup ont obtempéré aux conditions du comité, les uns par complaisance et les autres à cause de l'insignifiance des intérêts qu'ils ont dans l'affaire. Mais il nous revient que les principaux intéressés persistent à exiger qu'on suive la procédure régulière et qu'on leur livre leurs différences et leurs titres sans formule, outre qu'ils se réservent tous leurs droits à l'encontre de la société, représentée par son conseil d'Administration.

Catarrh of Digestive Organs and Bowels.

MRS. MARY M. MARSHALL, Tipton, Mo., writes:

"I suffered three years with catarrh of the digestive organs and bowels. I was unable to find relief, until as a last resort I was induced to try Peruna.

"I began the use of Peruna when I was confined to the bed and can say that I experienced benefit from the first dose.

"I have taken five bottles in all and believe that I am cured of my trouble.

"I am enjoying as good health as an old lady of my age could expect. My age is 77.

"I recommend your medicines to sufferers whenever I meet them, and some of my friends are using them with great success.

"I will always feel grateful to you for your grand medicine and kind advice and trust that many others may be as greatly benefited as I have been."

Mrs. L. S. Tinker, 852 Second street, Macon, Ga., writes:

"Two years ago my grandson suffered with hemorrhages of the bowels and he was treated by different doctors, but without cure.

"We quit all other treatment, and began the use of Peruna, and after the use of three bottles he seemed to be quite well. He is able now to walk six miles to school every day.

"Peruna has certainly worked wonders for him, and I shall not hesitate to recommend it."

Miss Anna Carsten, Clayton, Ill., writes:

"Your medicine, Peruna, did me so much good. I believe I should have been dead by this time if I had not used it.

"I am feeling so well now and have no trouble with my stomach. I have not taken any medicine for four or five months.

"If I am ever troubled with anything of the kind again, I shall take nothing but Peruna. I can cheerfully recommend it to my friends."

A Severe Cough.

Mrs. Emma Martin, Odessa, Mo., writes:

"I cannot thank you enough for curing me. For two years I doctored my cough which cost me many dollars, but still I seemed to get worse. My cough was so bad I could not sleep.

"Finally I purchased a bottle of Peruna. I took it according to directions, and in a short while I felt better, and after I had taken a second bottle I felt entirely well.

"After the use of six bottles I feel that I am cured, and therefore recommend this grand medicine to all who suffer with a cough as I did."

A Household Remedy.

Mrs. Celia Eibling, R. R. No. 8, Payne, Ohio, writes:

"I have better health now than I have had for years, and am fleshier than I have ever been. I am so thankful to you for what you have done for me.

"I cannot praise Peruna enough. I keep it in the house. You have my sincere thanks for your advice.

"My husband is taking Peruna, now. He had such a cough he thought he had consumption, but he is getting better.

"He has taken it only one week and it has done him good."

Miss Eva Schelle, 127 N. Quincy St., Topeka, Kas., writes:

"I unhesitatingly recommend Peruna as a splendid specific for catarrhal affections. I was a sufferer with this trouble off and on for a number of years and each fresh cold added to the difficulty.

"Finally I began taking Peruna for a cold and was glad to note that it was ridding me of the catarrh also.

"I continued to use it faithfully and the result was a complete cure in a very few months."

Mrs. Christina Clow, 411 E. Platte Ave., Colorado Springs, Col., writes:

"I have taken Peruna off and on for six years and have found it very beneficial in a great many ways.

"I took it for a cough and a cold, also for catarrh of the head, and it cured me. I took it for a tonic and it gave me strength. I have every reason to speak well of your medicine."

FAITH THAT CANNOT BE SHAKEN.

Despite everything that sensational magazines may say, the women of the United States continue to have faith in Peruna.

These women know a great deal more about Peruna than the editors who have, for selfish purposes, written against it.

These women have tried Peruna in their families. They have taken it themselves. They know it will help them.

They have suffered from various ailments, and Peruna has come to their relief, even when the doctors failed to cure them.

Such women cannot be convinced by any editorial spasm that their favorite household remedy is a humbug.

Peruna goes right on in its conquest over disease. Its fame is spreading all over the earth.

Especially among American women is Peruna a beloved household remedy.

It is entirely useless for anyone to try to dissuade them from the results of their own experience.

Peruna is a remedy for the mucous membranes. It therefore has a beneficial effect upon the internal organs of the body that are lined by mucous membranes.

For various chronic climatic diseases Peruna is a reliable remedy.

The testimonials concerning Peruna are given in the language of the people. We do not change or add to anything they may say concerning it.

The evidence is overwhelming that Peruna is a safe, reliable, invaluable remedy for the household.

Headache and Backache.

Mrs. Franziska Gaengel, Dominion 1, Old Bridgeport Mines, C. B., Canada, writes:

"I thank you for the benefit which I derived from Peruna. There may be many who are suffering from the same disease that I had, for which they have not yet been able to find the correct remedy.

"For the benefit of such persons I wish to say that I suffered with headache and backache and had a severe cough. I was in bed several weeks and could not do my work. I tried many remedies in vain.

"Then I consulted Dr. Hartman, who advised me to take Peruna and gave me further instructions, which I carefully observed.

"I felt better after taking the first bottle. I have taken several bottles now and am feeling so well that I can do all my work.

"I will never be without Peruna again, and recommend it to all."

Catarrh of the Stomach.

Mrs. Mary Allen, Route 4, Franklin, Tenn., writes:

"I am glad to be able to tell you that I am well of catarrh of the stomach, and am sincerely thankful to you for your advice.

"If it had not been for Peruna I would never have been well. I had three physicians. One of them told my husband that he could not cure me.

"I had been sick about nine months when a friend asked me to try Peruna to gratify her; so I commenced taking it. I can eat and walk and work.

"Everybody says I look as well as I ever did. Oh, you don't know how thankful I do feel to you! I have got several other people to take Peruna. I praise it to everybody."

For special directions everyone should read "The Ills of Life," a copy of which surrounds each bottle. Pe-ru-na is for sale by all chemists and druggists.

The following wholesale druggist will supply the retail drug trade in Cairo and Alexandria, Egypt.

LONDON & PARIS EXCHANGE
LIMITED,
GENERAL BANKERS.
BASILDON HOUSE, BANK, LONDON, E.C.

Circulaire H. De Vries et Boutigny

NOTES ET CRITIQUES

Le Caire, Vendredi 9 Août

Le taux de l'escompte libre à Londres est renseigné en nouvelle hausse de 1/8 à 4 pour cent.

Au Stock Exchange, le Consolidé anglais a baissé hier de 3/4 à 81 7/8. L'Unifiée s'est maintenue à 101 1/2. La National Bank est restée ferme à 20, l'Agricole à 8 1/8 et la Delta Light à 10. La Daïra Sanieh a perdu 1/4 à 12 3/4.

A Paris, le Crédit Foncier Egyptien a haussé de 3 francs à 687 et les Lots Turcs de 1 franc à 168. La Banque d'Athènes est restée invariée à 112.

Ici, la séance de ce matin a été une des meilleures que nous ayons vues depuis fort longtemps. Au début, on se tâtait un peu pour connaître la tendance qui prévaudrait, et, dès qu'il fut avéré que les acheteurs étaient très nombreux, les vendeurs se firent très rares, de sorte que forte est la proportion d'ordres qui ne purent être exécutés. Comme conséquence, la cote s'est inscrite en hausse dans tous les compartiments.

L'activité très nourrie s'est portée principalement sur les valeurs purement locales, délaissant les gros titres, ce qui est d'un bon augure, ces derniers ayant opéré leurs reprises il y a quelque temps déjà, alors que les autres restaient dans le marasme. Cette alternance est préférable, car elle rend palpable la logique de la reprise à laquelle nous assistons. Ajoutons que les baissiers ont dû renoncer à poursuivre leurs efforts et se mettre à la hausse ainsi que nous le faisions entendre hier.

Dans le compartiment des Banques, la National Bank est en bonne tendance à 20 1/4-5/16. L'Agricole est réalisée à 8 1/16. Le Comptoir Financier et Commercial paraît en meilleure disposition à 3 1/16. Les fondateurs Société Générale sont recherchées à 37.

Les Jouissances Eaux du Caire haussent à 189. La Daïra Sanieh est inscrite à 12 3/4-13/16 sans affaires. Les obligations anciennes Crédit Foncier sont lourdes à 303 et les nouvelles à 258. L'Allotment est ferme à 2 3/8, sa part recule à P.T. 67. Les Entreprises Immobilières et Travaux sont en forte demande à 2 7/16 et leur part s'inscrit en hausse à P.T. 40 après avoir atteint 44. Les fondateurs Héliopolis sont à 12.

La Brasserie des Pyramides se relève à 85 et les Automobiles à 2 3/4.

Dans le groupe des Hôtels, la tendance est excellente. Les Baehler haussent à 5 7/16 et les Nungovich à 14. Les Upper Egypt sont mieux tenus à 2 3/4-13/16 et les Ritz calmes à 0 11/16-3/4.

Parmi les petites valeurs, les Estates montent à 0 13/16 et leur part à 4. Les Constructions se relèvent à 0 1/2 et les Abdy à 0 5/8.

Les marché des valeurs étant fermé les samedis pendant la saison d'été, le prochain numéro de notre Circulaire ne paraîtra que le lundi 12 Août courant.

Examinant les chances d'une reprise sur les marchés européens, un journal belge opine pour l'affirmative et le démontre par les observations suivantes :

"Ce qui tend à confirmer l'opinion d'après laquelle le plus fort de la crise serait passé, c'est que les banques semblent réussir d'une façon satisfaisante dans leurs efforts à diminuer leurs engagements tout en fortifiant leur encaisse. C'est le cas notamment pour la Banque d'Angleterre, la Banque de France, la Reichsbank allemande, la Banque Impériale de Russie, dont le chiffre des billets émis, qui est resté fixé durant plusieurs années à 1,200 millions de roubles, vient d'être réduit à 1,190 millions, concurremment avec une augmentation de l'or en caisse et en dépôt à l'étranger.

"De plus les demandes de crédits tendent d'elles-mêmes à s'atténuer. Evidemment, le marché mondial n'est jamais complètement soustrait aux émissions actuelles ou en perspective. L'heure présente compte donc aussi ses candidats emprunteurs. Pourtant, il est indéniable qu'à l'hésitation des capitalistes correspond une réserve presque égale des emprunteurs. Ceux-ci, en présence des conditions particulièrement lourdes, issues de l'état du marché, cherchent à éviter autant que possible de devoir contracter de nouveaux engagements, en limitant leurs besoins.

"L'impression qui se dégage de tout cela, c'est que nous assistons à un travail de reconstitution lente mais progressive. Il est à coup sûr probable, certain même, que ce travail sera masqué momentanément par des causes de raréfaction occasionnelles, car il se présente toujours des besoins immédiats tels que vacances, récoltes, liquidations mensuelles et le reste. N'empêche qu'une attitude d'abstention, fût-elle relative et forcée, ne peut manquer, en définitive, de produire ses effets.

"Pratiquement, cela revient à dire qu'ils nous semblent être mal inspirés ceux qui, attirés par le rendement plus élevé des dépôts en banque, laissent leur argent sans emploi direct. C'est en ces temps de prostration financière qu'il faut surtout avoir le courage et l'initiative de chercher à ses capitaux un placement à la fois solide et rémunérateur. Faute de quoi, les occasions passent ; on s'en apercevra quand il sera trop tard."

Hier a eu lieu l'assemblée de la Corporation des agents de change du Caire, dans le but de discuter les conditions de rétablissement du marché à terme. Un projet de règlement avait été préparé par les soins du Comité et a servi de base à la discussion.

Les points saillants du nouveau règlement sont les suivants : Etablissement d'une "Chambre de compensation" dont nous avons parlé hier ; Marge obligatoire à verser par le client, dont le 50% devra être déposé par l'agent à la Chambre de compensation ; Classement des titres en trois catégories suivant lesquelles la marge obligatoire sera plus ou moins élevée ; Apposition d'un timbre sur les factures moyennant une taxe de 1 millième.

Une nouvelle assemblée aura lieu mardi prochain 13 courant à l'effet de délibérer sur quelques modifications de détail.

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.

This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, as it were, of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost numberless), its symptoms are much the same; the more prominent being sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary affairs of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour—

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY

to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day this may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic than by any other known combination. So surely as it is taken in accordance with the printed directions accompanying it, will the shattered health be restored, and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, [illegible] and valueless. This wonderful medicament [illegible] vegetable and [illegible] agreeable [illegible] taste —suitable for [illegible] conditions, in either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing recuperative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion everything that had preceded it for this wide-spread and numerous class of human ailments.

THE EXPIRING LAMP OF LIFE LIGHTED UP AFRESH,

THERAPION is sold by the principal Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 2/9 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government Stamp (in white letters on a red ground) affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Hon. Commissioners, and without which it is a forgery.
